Product Description

Overview

With the widespread use of vehicles and the increase in multi-storey buildings, many security weaknesses have occurred in today's modern life. For people residing on high floors, situations such as disconnection from the outside create a great risk in terms of security. At the same time, security problems also occur in areas where vehicles are gathered at a single point, such as parking lots of buildings and shopping centers. With automatic barrier gate systems, security can be easily ensured as every movement
